TRAINING CURRICULUM FOR COMPETENCE: TAKING THE

Aim of the workshop

This workshop aims at empowering learners with the essential qualities of an entrepreneurial mindset to help them gain a deep understanding of the qualities needed to take the initiative. This will be achieved by understanding the process of goal setting, getting familiar with the design thinking and Kotter's 8-step change management models, and by mastering the process of innovation quantification and orchestration. The learners will enhance skills in setting ambitious yet achievable goals, distinguishing between innovation and ideation, and applying change management and creative problem-solving, ideation techniques using SCAMPER. Finally, they will become competent in taking ownership of initiatives, integrating goal-setting, problem-solving, change management, and ideation to foster a proactive and accountable approach in personal and professional realms.

Learning outcomes

After the end of the workshop, the participants will be in a position to:

In terms of knowledge:

List the essential qualities that define someone with an entrepreneurial mindset. Name the 5 elements of the design thinking model. Explain each of the eight steps in Kotter's change management model. Define the purpose and methodology of quantification and orchestration in the context of innovation processes.

In terms of skills:

Apply the goal-setting theory to independently establish personal and professional goals. Distinguish between innovation and ideation as key elements of initiative taking and examine how they interrelate.

Utilize the SCAMPER technique to generate creative solutions on various topics.

In terms of competences:
